TRESEMANN ISSUES ULTIMATUM TO REICHSTAG ON "DICTATORSHIP BILL"

Assume Dictatorial Powers Unless Bill is Passed by Saturday, to Which Day Reichstag Adjourns—Doubtful if it Will Pass.

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Berlin, Oct. 11.—The Reichstag adjourned until Saturday with the authorization law conferring dictatorial powers upon the government. Chancellor Stresemann declared that, if the law is not passed when the Reichstag reconvenes Saturday he will proceed to take all decisions upon his own responsibility. The authorization bill confers dictatorial powers upon the government. After a canvass of many Reichstag members, it was stated that it was doubtful if the "dictatorship law" could have commanded a majority of two-thirds. When Chancellor Stresemann entered the Reichstag building to appeal for passage of the measure, he found the house virtually empty. He hastened to president Ebert and gained authority to dissolve the Reichstag if necessary.

MAN DIED IN CITY AMBULANCE

Jerome E. Garrison of Hoffman Street, Seized With Stroke at Teller & Tappen's Coal Yard, Died on Way to Kingston City Hospital.

Jerome E. Garrison of No. 39 Hoffman street, seized with a stroke at Teller & Tappen's coal yard Wednesday afternoon, died in the city ambulance while being hurried to Kingston City Hospital that day. Mr. Garrison was employed as a steamman at the Fuller shirt factory. That afternoon he had gone to a barber shop and later stopped at the coal yard where he was seized. He died immediately notified Dr. W. N. Conner.

Mr. Garrison was a member of the Elks of Accord and the Knights of Pythias of this city. He survived by his wife and one daughter Ella of this city, and one son, Luther Garrison of Stoneville. Funeral Saturday afternoon at the late residence on Hoffman street at 1:30 o'clock. Interment in the New Paltz cemetery.

CRIMINALS GET $125,000 WORTH OF LOOT

Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—While one audit held a gun at the head of a watchman early today, five other burglars leisurely looted the warehouse of Frederick Huth in the 38th street, escaping with furs valued at $125,000.

The thieves occupied five hours with their job. They loaded the furs on an auto truck and drove off into the dawn. The watchman was Charles Chasen. He had been employed at the warehouse but three weeks. He told police he was sitting on the platform in front of the building shortly before midnight when two men sauntered up and started a conversation. Suddenly one of them whipped a gun, pressed it against his temple and said: "Move and I'll blow your head off." The watchman did not move.

PLAN HARDING HOME AS PERMANENT MEMORIAL

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 11.—The Harding Memorial Association, which will launch a national wide campaign to raise $3,000,000 to maintain in perpetuity the memory of the late president, was formally organized here today when a meeting of the board of directors was called by President Coolidge.

The meeting was held in the office of Brig. General Charles E. Sawyer, the White House physician, who will be in charge of the Washington headquarters of the association.

ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR'S BODY ON WAY HOME

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Liverpool, England, Oct. 11.—The body of Dr. Estanislao Zabollos, former Argentine foreign minister and Argentine ambassador to United States, was taken to Southampton today for removal home upon a warship. It was accompanied by two relatives and a committee of the International Law Association, of which Dr. Zabollos was president.

The Argentine warship Almazora, carrying the remains, will sail from Southampton tomorrow.

One Arrest Wednesday.
L. W. Feustermacher of Rifton was arrested Wednesday evening by Officer Kuehn on a charge of parking his auto in the restricted area on John street. He gave bail for his appearance later in police court.

Earthquake In Spain.
Puebla, Spain, Oct. 11.—A five second earthquake was reported from the Puebla Canal zone. There was no mention of casualties.

NEW ATTACKS ON PREMIER BALDWIN

He Is Assailed From Many Quarters For Inaction and Empire Conference Is Split.

Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 11.—Discussions were reported today in the British Imperial conference. The colonial premiers are demanding that Premier Stanley Baldwin, of England, rescind his attitude of quiet aloofness and adopt a definite and positive policy towards reparations and associated problems.

It is reported that the dominion premiers are insisting that a new policy be formulated before the conference breaks up, so that it can be considered as the program of the whole British Empire and be approved in this form—if it is found acceptable.

Premier Baldwin is under attack from many quarters. Influential newspapers are attacking what they call his doing nothing, pointing to the aggressive stand taken by France upon European problems.

Political opponents of the Tory premier, accuse him of leading the country into difficulties by allowing the government to drift. An editorial in the Tory News-Morning Post today indicated that the movement to restore David Lloyd George to ten Downing street is growing in strength.

Lord Robert Cecil, chief exponent of the League of Nations in Great Britain, addressed the conference today upon the aims of the league. Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon will address the premiers again tomorrow upon foreign policy.

STATE PAID $191 BILL TWICE

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Oct. 11.—Edward S. Walsh of Brooklyn, commissioner of canals, was questioned at length today about dredging contracts in the probe ordered by Governor Smith into the financial affairs of the bureau of canals.

Former Justice Joseph A. Kellogg of Glens Falls, sitting as a commissioner under the Moreland Act, asked Commissioner Walsh why it was the state paid the Empire Dredge $250 a day for dredging when other concerns offered to rent dredges to the state for $200 a day.

Walsh said he rented the Empire Company's machine because he considered it better than any other offered the state.

Commissioner Walsh appeared much surprised when Judge Kellogg showed him a bill for an engine costing $1,045 which the state installed on the Empire Company's dredge. He said it was the first time he had ever seen the bill.

The engine for the dredge was sold the canal bureau by the General Mill and Contractors Supply Company of Albany. Colonel Frederick S. Greene, state superintendent of public works, claims the General Mill Company has overcharged the state $25,000 for canal supplies in the last few months.

Judge Kellogg sprang another surprise when he produced one of the General Mill Company's bills for $191, and showed it had been paid twice by the state.

TURKS IN GREECE AWAIT DEPORTATION

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Athens, Oct. 11.—Thousands of Turkish subjects are massed today upon the Mitylene wharves under the most distressing conditions, awaiting deportation to Turkey. They are former Turkish residents of Greece who are affected by the "exchange of populations" clause of the Lausanne treaty.

Many of the deportees were born on Greek soil of Turkish parentage. Food, clothing and shelter are lacking. Many fugitives carry all their portable household effects in packs upon their backs.

DR. BANTING TO GIVE NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 11.—Dr. Banting, discoverer of insulin, within the next few weeks will announce a medical discovery of even greater importance than diabetes cure it was revealed today by Dr. Forbes Godfrey.

British Solid With Turks.
Southampton, England, Oct. 11.—General Harrington, former commander of the British military forces in Turkey and British high commissioner at Constantinople, arrived home from the Near East today declaring that British prestige was never so high in that quarter as at present.

ALL READY FOR BISHOP HUGHES

Clinton Avenue Men Prepare for Ground-breaking Ceremony on Tuesday for $25,000 Building—Pastor's Family in New Parsonage.

The first actual work on the new structure for the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church was begun Wednesday evening, when a small army of men from the various organizations of the church met for the purpose of making ready for the ceremony to take place Tuesday afternoon at 4:30. When Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston will come to Kingston to break dirt for the new building and seal the copper box with the documents that will be placed in the cornerstone.

A stranger passing at Clinton avenue and Liberty street would have thought the Methodists were a destructive crowd of people as some of the men were tearing down the fence, even the flowers in the garden were being trampled under foot. The shrubbery pulled up by the roots and the men failed to heed the warning of the poet who said: "Woodman, spare that tree, touch not a single bough," for they razed the fruit trees to the ground and piled the boughs in a heap. The big yard in the rear of the old parsonage is now ready for the impressive ceremony.

The men had no more than finished their task of making ready for the laying of the cornerstone until they turned their attention to moving the minister and his family from the old to the new parsonage. The new home for the pastor located at 123 Clinton avenue, is directly opposite the church. The members of the church had much fun with all this work and all agree that the object was to make ready for a greater Clinton avenue organization, but in spite of all that, there was a note of sadness for many and the pastor, being one of the prime factors in the whole project, saw the pathetic side of it for 120 Clinton avenue has been the parsonage for years and literally hundreds of couples have stood in the parlor, declaring that they would take each other "for better or for worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish till death do part." The present record which has been in use less than ten years show more than 250 such ceremonies. Many of the same couples have brought their offspring to the same room for Christian baptism and hundreds of others have come to counsel with the pastor concerning spiritual things and other problems that have come before them. But 120 Clinton avenue will not be forsaken. The church office will be in this building, ten large rooms will be used by the various societies of the church for their regular gatherings and weekly activities. The darkness, that now prevails will be of short duration for the building will be used practically every afternoon and night in the week.

Clinton Avenue Church was organized seventy-two years ago. It then had thirty members and a very small Sunday school. It now has more than 800 enrolled members, over $90 in its Sunday school, 150 members of the Young People's Society, six active missionary societies and 29 organized S. S. classes. During the life of the church, there has never been a ten-year period that the church has not had some building program, the present being the largest and most extensive as more than $25,000 will be expended, but even this will take care of the needs of Clinton avenue church for not more than five or six years. The official board, recognizing this fact, are laying their foundation now for another story that may be added to the new structure in the next five years. Every detail, even to a heating plant, is arranged for another building program within the next few years.

LYDD GEORGE'S WAR FORECAST CAUSES STIR

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 11.—Former Premier David Lloyd George's warning of another great war in Europe unless the European nations are halted in their military preparations will be sounded in his speeches in the United States, it was revealed today by the British statesman himself. He made the announcement just before starting for Niagara Falls.

Lloyd George's speech at Toronto created a profound impression and newspapers today commented upon his prediction of a new conflict unless the British overseas dominions and United States work to prevent it. The speech was generally accepted as a rebuke to France, which country has built up the strongest military machine in Europe.

The former premier made it plain that he believes the League of Nations, as now constituted, is useless as an agency for maintaining peace.

Train Kills Bus Passengers

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Three persons were killed and seven others seriously injured when train number 8,403 of the Pennsylvania bound from Williamsport to Canadaigua on the Elmira branch, struck a stalled automobile bus at a grade crossing near Hepburnville this morning, according to advices received by the railroad management.

$25,000 Silk Robbery.

One who fails to register now will be deprived of the privilege of taking part in the selection of his party's nominees for state and congressional offices next autumn.

GOLD SUES THREE FOR DAMAGES

City of Kingston, Ulster and Delaware and Owners of Bus Made Defendants in Suit to Recover For Injuries at Albany Avenue Bridge.

In supreme court this morning an action to recover for personal injuries was taken up. The action grows out of the accident at the Ulster and Delaware railroad bridge on Albany avenue last October when Benjamin H. Gold, 21 years old, was thrown from an automobile when the automobile in which he was riding struck the housing over the city water main which runs over the bridge. Gold, a student at the Saratoga Springs high school, had been to Kingston with the members of the Saratoga football team to play against the local school. After the game the players were returning home by automobile and had reached the railroad bridge when plaintiff claims the car in which he was riding was crowded off the road by one of the Saugerties busses of Klemm & Huber which was approaching from the left. The Chandler sedan struck the housing over the bridge and Gold was thrown through the top of the car and, it is claimed, was permanently injured.

The action is brought against the City of Kingston, The Ulster and Delaware railroad and the Klemm & Huber, bus owners.

Plaintiff claims that at the time of the accident the bus was attempting to pass to the left of the Chandler as both cars were traveling north. The driver of the Chandler did not see the housing over the pipes until too late to stop and ran the rear of the car up, over the housing in such a manner as to throw young Gold out of the car.

Prior to the taking up of the case, H. R. Flemming who appears for the U. & D. railroad moved that the railroad be stricken out as a defendant on the ground that it was not liable.

The railroad must maintain the structure over the tracks by law but a dangerous condition of the structure must be reported by proper city officials at least ten days prior to an accident to make the railroad liable. The condition which caused the accident had not been so reported and Mr. Flemming further held that the housing over the water pipe was a part of the city property and that it would be absurd under the circumstances for the city, who maintained the pipe and housing, to notify the railroad of a dangerous condition which the city was maintaining in self of necessity. The motion was temporarily denied by the court with the understanding that it upon further investigation the facts as presented by Mr. Flemming were found to be so, the railroad would later be relieved.

Corporation Counsel Gill also asked that the city be stricken out of the case as a defendant on the ground that the city charter provided that where an accident happened certain information must be filed with the common council within 20 days. This had not been done, the information having been filed with the city clerk. This motion was also denied with the same understanding as the contention of the bus owners.

The bus was proceeding along Albany avenue as laid down by the city regulations and that within a few feet of the place of the accident the bus had stopped to take on passengers. That the bus had just started and was of necessity proceeding slowly toward the bridge when the car in which the plaintiff was riding came at a rapid rate of speed down East St. James street toward the bridge where the two streets converge into one and that the driver of the car was attempting to pass the oncoming bus on the right hand side. Both cars were proceeding in a northerly direction which would have required the passing car to pass to the left of the slower moving vehicle.

Plaintiff claims that the bus driver was negligent. The city was liable for maintaining a nuisance and the railroad was liable for allowing the housing over the water pipe to remain and extend over the roadway.

Judge Gill, who appears for the city, holds that the city had maintained the present structure for 40 years and that during the 40 years there had been no accident and further that the roadway at the

COHENS BUY OLD TREMPER HOME

Albany Avenue Property Sold to Aaron and Raphael Cohen for Investment Purposes—They Believe in Kingston.

The old Jacob H. Tremper home, situated at the corner of Albany and Tremper avenues, which for the past sixteen years has been occupied by James O. Winston and his family, has been sold by Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., to Aaron and Raphael Cohen, who have bought the property as an investment.

The property has a frontage of seventy-two feet on Albany avenue and extends along Tremper avenue for a depth of one hundred and thirty feet. The house contains fourteen rooms and is sixty feet deep. For many years the property was occupied by the late Captain Jacob H. Tremper, Sr., and his son, the late Captain Jacob H. Tremper, Jr. The sale does not include the house on Albany avenue now occupied by the latter.

Before Albany avenue became flanked on either side with beautiful residences, the Tremper homestead was a landmark. Albany avenue at that time was sparsely settled, and cornfields which bordered the avenue extended to Elmendorf street, and from Elmendorf street beyond Downs street, which was then only a wagon trail.

During the occupancy of the property by the two Captains Tremper and by James O. Winston, the house has been the scene of much social gaiety.

In speaking of his purchase of the property, Aaron Cohen said he and his brother had bought the property as an investment. They are very optimistic concerning the future prosperity of Kingston and they expect to make further real estate investments. They believe that Kingston is destined to make substantial growth and that within the next three to five years it will have become not only a great summer resort but that it will be one of the most progressive all-the-year-round cities patronized alike by tourists and home-seekers in New York state.

VERDICT OF JURY FAVORS O'CONNOR

The jury which heard the evidence in the action brought by William Scholting against Charles R. O'Connor, et al, after two hours deliberation in the jury room arrived at a decision and this morning handed up their sealed verdict of no cause of action.

The case was given to the jury shortly after 6 o'clock and after the jury had been taken out to dinner it entered upon its deliberations. The action was brought to recover $50,000 for the death of plaintiff's wife who died as a result of injuries sustained on August 12, 1921 near Alabam when she, with a party of five other people, was run down by an automobile of Mr. O'Connor. A party of city visitors were walking on the road just at dusk. Mr. O'Connor's automobile going north from Kingston came into collision with the party when the driver of the O'Connor car was blinded by glaring headlights of an approaching car. Mrs. Scholting died later as the result of the accident.

The other members of the party were also injured with the exception of Mrs. Scholting's boy.

The case was tried before and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $5,000. An appeal was taken and the appellate division sent the case back for retrial.

The usual motion to set aside the verdict of the jury was made and denied by the court and 30 days given to prepare an appeal.

IMPROVEMENTS AT ULSTER COUNTY SAVINGS INSTITUTION

The cornice, window trimmings, iron pillars of the Ulster County Savings Institution at 250 Wall street, have been repainted, the stone work cleaned, and other improvements made to the exterior, and the large letters across the front regilded. There has just been installed by Fred E. DeGarmo, electrical contractor, an up-to-date overhead desk lighting system that extends over the long row of desks, being a great improvement. In its semi-annual report of July 1, the Ulster County Savings Institution had deposits of $7,125,749.01, and a surplus of the par value of $695,019.78, with a growth in deposits since.

Brinnier of Saugerties appears for Klemm & Huber. H. H. Flemming appears for the Ulster & Delaware Railroad and Mr. Gill for the city of Kingston.

Jurors not engaged on the present case were excused until Friday at 10 o'clock.

OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE MEETS AND RECEIVES GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Special Session Called by Governor Walton After People Had Decided it Might Convene Without His Call—Walton Demands Anti-Ku Klux Legislation and Opponents Demand Impeachment.

Telegraph to The Freeman.
State Capitol, Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 11.—Oklahoma's legislature, once stopped at the point of the bayonet, and prevented from assembling, was to meet this morning in extraordinary session.

They came to impeach Governor J. C. Walton who less than ten months ago took his oath of office among them before tens of thousands of spectators in the open air at the "world's greatest barbecue."

The galleries and rotunda were crowded with spectators as they were ten months ago when the "common folks' hoe-down" was staged as part of the governor's inaugural ball.

The legislature came at the governor's own invitation—not an invitation for impeachment—but to enact anti-Ku Klux Klan legislation after an election which overwhelmingly supported an amendment, which would allow the assembly to call itself in session.

The session was six days earlier than that which the legislature is used to call for.

W. D. McElroy, leader in the rebel movement to call the assembly for the purpose of impeaching Governor Walton was the new speaker of the house, taking the place of former Speaker Murray Gibbons, a staunch friend of Governor Walton.

David O. Stovall, of Hugo, who was the caucus chairman and who was elected majority floor leader, was to call the house to order. J. Tostetter had formerly held this place.

McElroy had his committee appointed to notify the "honorable senate" that the house was in session and to receive them in assembly for the governor's message.

The senate was called to order with the same organization as existing during the regular session last winter. Tom Anglin of Hollenberry was president pro-tempore, and Wash E. Hudson of Tulsa, majority leader. They awaited the committee to escort them to the house.

Governor Walton was to appear before the house and senate joint assembly at 9 o'clock with his message urging that emergency measures should be passed immediately to rid the state of the influence of the "invisible government of the Knights of the K. K. K."

"I will resign upon one condition—and one condition only," Governor Walton declared today. "If the legislature starts immediately to work and passes my anti-Klan bill, I will then resign, so that the people will have neither 'king nor klan'."

"I am submitting a full transcript of all testimony taken by military courts for the investigation committee to act upon."

The governor's message was as follows: "Governor, October sixth, 1923. I issued a proclamation convening the members of the ninth Oklahoma legislature into extraordinary session and you are now here in response to that call.

"The reason for calling you together are well known both to the members of this body and to the people at large. They grow out of the conflict in this state between the visible and the invisible governments, so-called. This conflict must now be brought to a close with a complete victory for the visible government, or Oklahoma will face indefinite turmoil and strife, the final results of which are bound to be disastrous.

"This is not a threat, but a mere statement of fact.

"It ought to be apparent now to all citizens that the people of this state will not cravenly submit to intolerance, persecution and outrageous violence of a hooded organization which operates in the dark under cover and whose membership is secret. Racial and religious bigotry and mob violence are unthinkable when preached and practiced in the open—they become traitorous and wickedly so when hidden behind the un-American mask. Let us all agree that it is time to kill the serpent in our midst and restore that good nature, harmony and tolerance, without which Oklahoma can neither progress, prosper nor guarantee happiness to her citizens.

and sapping the very life blood of our citizenship. It must either be killed or the government itself finally give way to anarchy and revolution. There is no alternative or middle ground.

"Some cases present outrages and heart rending cruelty in the extreme. That these conditions may be immediately terminated and that the people may be protected forever in their person, property and fundamental liberties, I recommend and urge that you immediately enact into law the bill drawn and submitted herewith, which seems to be complete and adequate to meet every exigency and contingency. This law provides not only for unmasking all citizens, but compels secret organizations to publish a list of their members as well. The law which you may pass must not be makeshift, merely as an expediency measure, only, but it must be in truth, in fact and in law, one that has teeth and will meet the alarming situation.

"Nothing less will have the effect to destroy this 'super-invisible' and asserted 'invincible' government and nothing less will satisfy the people's demand; their will; my will.

"I urge you to do your duty.

"Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) J. C. WALTON,
Governor of Oklahoma."

TEACHERS EXTOL PRINCIPAL LEWIS

Adopt Resolutions in Appreciation of His Work at High School and Volving Confidence in His Future Success.

At a meeting of the high school teachers with Dr. Michael, held Monday, October the eighth, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

For over six years Mr. Lewis has unstintingly spent energy of body, mind, and heart for Kingston High School; to maintain high scholastic standards, to encourage wholesome activities, to develop a live practical community spirit.

Whenever there has been a good thing needed to promote the welfare of the students, to make more effective the efforts of the teachers, to facilitate the harmonious work of all, Mr. Lewis has been ever ready to talk for it, to work for it, if need were to fight for it—in short, to get it.

He has possessed a mind alert to so carry a sympathy quick to understand the needs of the individual students as well as of the school, and has brought to bear upon these problems the peculiar American genius of resourcefulness, which sweeps aside any and all difficulties when the future of a worthy boy or girl is concerned; and doubtless one of his richest rewards is the love and gratitude of those he has helped to a higher education and a fuller life.

His energies have not been confined within the walls of the high school, but have given direction and force and efficacy to many projects for civic betterment; and so in a peculiar way he has linked the life of the school with that of the community to the advantage of both; therefore:

Be it resolved, That we extend to him this assurance of our appreciation of his frank helpful criticism, of his spirit of cooperation and loyalty, of his courage and strength, which have given a zest to work making it not an irksome task, but a matter of happy comradeship in aspiring to greater attainments and higher ideals for ourselves and others.

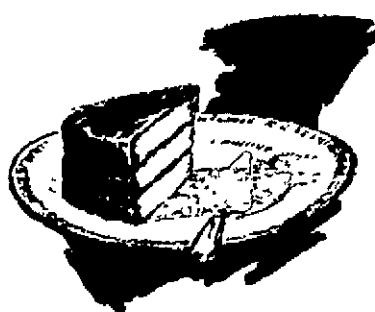

That we record our sense of loss to the school and to the community, which his departure entails.

That we can give him no better evidence of our regard than to assure him that we will strive to work and grow to increasingly higher and better things.

That we wish him the fullest measure of success and happiness in the work to which he goes, confident that his indomitable spirit, his courage and zeal will command both.

SOMEONE LOSES IN EVERY FIRE

We have stood many times in the crowd, watching the flames leap through some individual's place of business or home, and have heard someone make the remark:

"Let it burn, the insurance company will pay for it."

Perhaps at the time we may have agreed with the remark, knowing that the person whose property was burning undoubtedly had full insurance protection. We knew the owner would file his loss claim, collect the amount due him and we felt that in a reasonable time we would see a new building arising out of the ruins of the old one.

But no matter how fully the property may be covered by insurance, the owner of the business and the public are losers. The institution of insurance enables the owner to replace the property destroyed by transferring the risk to an insurance company, but it is a fallacy to consider that the company is the ultimate loser. The insurance company is really a distributing agency through which the losses of the unfortunate few are carried by many policy holders.

When the fire losses of an insurance company increase it is necessary that the premium income of the company be increased proportionately to pay the losses.

The general fire loss therefore has a direct effect upon the premiums paid by individuals and individual business organizations, whether they actually sustain the loss or not. It is natural for manufacturing and other business organizations to consider insurance charges as a part of the cost of production these charges are passed on to the ultimate consumer. This places an added burden on the citizens of the country, and since it is reflected in the cost of everything purchased it may be likened to a tax.

Further, when a fire occurs the real loss of productivity is lost forever. By means of insurance the owner is supplied with a rebuilding fund but the nation as a whole has suffered the loss of value represented by the raw material and labor utilized in the construction of the property destroyed. Suppose a few men were living on a desert island dependent entirely on their own resources for food and shelter. These men agree to divide their labor so that each will conduct a definite task for the benefit of all. On this island it is agreed that one of the men will be responsible for the building of a house for the use of all the companions. As the result of a storm the house is destroyed and though the house is rebuilt, the man who was responsible for its construction is deprived of the substance which he requires.

In our busy community and in the town as a whole this analogy could be applied on a larger and more complex scale. The fire insurance industry is a permanent loss to the nation. It cannot be replaced although the burden can be distributed among many.

It behooves everyone, therefore, for selfish reasons, if for no other to use every care possible to prevent fires either on his own property or that of others. This week is being observed throughout the country as fire prevention week during which time everyone is called upon to carefully consider the matter of fire protection and the means which he can utilize to reduce the enormous annual fire waste.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Unique and Stylish Model (For Slender Figures).

4452 Canton crepe in a pretty tan shade was used for this design, with bands of Persian embroidery for trimming. This is also a good model for tulle, tulle and more.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18 year size requires 5 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies and Misses and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Blow Your Own Horn.

One may wait a reasonable length of time for some one to praise him, then, if nobody does, he blows his own horn.

HIGHLAND

Highland, Oct. 10.—Mr and Mrs Jacob Schuhle with several relatives went for an auto trip Sunday, and covered nearly 200 miles. They all furnished delicious refreshments. Everyone was hungry and so they just were anticipating the great eatables. As they were opening up the baskets and anxiously waiting for the grand fried chicken and to their sorrow made the discovery that they had left the Rhode Island Rods and Leghorns all nicely fixed in wax paper in the cellar. So we think that Monday was chicken day with some of them.

Queen Esther Circle met Wednesday evening at the home of the DuBoises on Maple avenue, where Mrs. Charles DuBois and Miss Bessie DuBois were the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman DuBois are to be residents of this place. He is a brother of Theron DuBois.

Several from this place attended the fair at Danbury, Conn., and reported a good time.

Mrs. A. W. Lent attended a debate at Vassar College recently, which was very interesting.

The shore dinner given under the auspices of the official board of the M. E. Church was a great social and financial success. The menu was under the direction of the Auxiliary.

All know when the Auxiliary gives a dinner that it will be a satisfactory in quality, quantity and serving. They served over 300 people and the dinner was pronounced as faultless. Much of the program was fine, decorations beautiful and everyone in good spirits. They had a splendid corps of workers. Those who attended to the fish under the direction of Mrs. J. P. Waitley also the clam chowder, under supervision of Mrs. F. A. Coons, could not be beaten and the kitchen with Mrs. B. Dimsey as chairman and dining room with the president and her corps of ladies, just made the people realize this club is at all times ready to do good work.

The men of the board helped out in many ways. All decided this club could not do a dinner to please the most fastidious and best of all the offering increased their treasury a fine sum of money for which they are grateful to all who patronized them.

Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Rhodes have had as their guest the past week Mrs. DeKay of Walden.

Mr. and Mrs. Landon Church entered recent guests from Danbury.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mellins have been entertaining Mrs. G. Davis, widow of the Rev. G. Davis, deceased. Few years ago these people were residents here as Dr. Davis was then pastor of the M. E. Church.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Clearwater entertained guests from Poughkeepsie recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummings and family have returned from a fine trip to New York, Portsmouth and New Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erickson were delighted to have as their recent guests Mr. and Mrs. M. Gregory and children also Mrs. Milo Gregory of Utica.

Fannie Kuriz, who is in the Vassar Hospital for operation for cancer, is improving rapidly, and is to be released the 13th if everything is as favorable then as now.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons are entertaining relatives from Utica.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stall had recent guests from Grand Gorge.

Miss Edith Atkins was in New York city the week end and also Chester Atkins left here Tuesday for a few days in the city. His mother who was operated upon at the hospital passed through it successfully and is at the time improving rapidly in the pleasure of her relatives and friends.

Miss F. P. Plitt has returned from New York where she attended the grand ship session, O. E. S. at Hotel Waldorf Astoria.

Mrs. J. P. Seaman has been visiting relatives in America.

Dr. and Mrs. Rivermarch had guests last week from Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wadley was married September 21 and is now Mrs. C. Wadley. They reside in Elizabeth, N. J. She has many friends here who wish her years of happiness and prosperity.

J. O. U. A. M. met Tuesday evening and had a most interesting meeting. The reports were given by the committee who went to New York for the meeting in regard to some very interesting business.

Mr. Kuriz goes to Vassar Hospital every day to see her daughter, Fannie who is there recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster from the city are visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schenck and daughter were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ireland in Stamfordville.

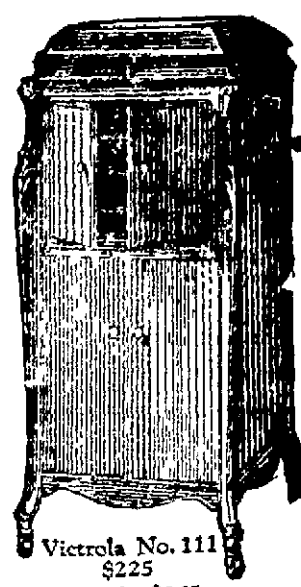

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fisher of Vine street avenue had a delightful party of friends at their home Monday evening from Marlborough and West Park. The time was spent playing cards and at a late hour the hostess who is always looking out for everyone to eat had a sumptuous layout and they all enjoyed it and wished when they left for more of the same nature for Mrs. Fisher knows how to get up big cats.

Epworth League convention at Highland Falls Friday evening seems to be the topic just now. Banjo Club from here will play.

Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Lamourice celebrated their 50th anniversary by giving a grand wedding dinner at the Hotel Stuyvesant, Kingston. Guests from several places were present. Gifts were received and on their return home the bride and groom served an anniversary luncheon which was greatly enjoyed. Much joy is wished both and hope they may live to celebrate their 75th anniversary.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Out tomorrow New Victor Records October 12, 1923

Red Seal Concert and Operatic

(Since First I Met Thee (Watson-Rubinstein) Mabel Garrison 941 $1.50

Gay Butterfly (Hawley) Mabel Garrison

(Since First I Met Thee) is Rubinstein's melodious "Romance in E Flat" set as an English song with cello obbligato.

"Gay Butterfly" is a brilliant waltz song with delightful coloratura passages.

(Song of the Viking Guest) Feodor Chaliapin 6416 2.00

(Song of the Flea (Cocle-Monodopity) Feodor Chaliapin

The Viking Song is a magnificent bass number, with rolling, surging music like the heavy and backwash of great seas. The setting of the "Song of the Flea" is one of the oddest in music.

(Etude in A Minor (Chopin) Piano Solo Alfred Cortot 6417 2.00

Impromptu in A Flat (Chopin) Alfred Cortot

Two numbers of the highest beauty and importance for the true lover of piano music. Melody, melody everywhere! These pieces are almost without rival.

Melodious Instrumental

(A Hunting Scene Arthur Pryor's Band 19118 .75

(The Mill in the Forest Arthur Pryor's Band

Numbers that will especially please children. The Hunting Scene tells its own story. The Mill in the Forest is quiet and idyllic with a polka tune in the middle.

Light Vocal

(If I Knew You Then as I Know You Now Charles Hart 19134 .75

(I Wish I Had Someone to Cry Over Me Lewis James)

These favorite artists have two fine tenor waltz songs—a song of love disillusion, very sweet and sorrowful, and a touching companion song, with a fine saxophone interlude.

(I've Got the Yes! We Have No Banana Blues Belle Baker with The Virginians 19135 .75

Jubilee Blues Belle Baker with The Virginians

To judge from this record the "Bernhardt of Big Time Vaudeville" has heard too much of the recent favorite street song. This number and "Jubilee Blues" are both with a jazz orchestra.

Dance Records

(Foolish Child—Fox Trot Benson Orchestra of Chicago 19136 .75

(That Old Gang of Mine—Fox Trot Benson Orchestra of Chicago

In "Foolish Child" a saxophone crows joyously above some bell effects. "That Old Gang of Mine" is as good a fox trot as it was a song.

(The Frivolous Girl—Tango International Novelty Orchestra 19137 .75

(Love—Longing—Tango International Novelty Orchestra

These tangos in the Argentine rhythm are romantic in style, not jazy. They will test your dance skill if you possess it and develop skill if you don't.

(Oh! Sister, Ain't That Hot!—Fox Trot Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra 19138 .75

(Mean, Mean Mamma—Fox Trot Benson Orchestra

"Mean, Mean Mamma" is well-named. The rhythm, melody, harmony and tone-color get into mean combinations—and untangle cleverly. "Oh! Sister, Ain't That Hot!" is another of the same sort.

THE MAN WHO KNOWS

The experience of the human race teaches the wisdom of the old adage, "When you want work well done, go to the man who knows." It is "the man who knows" on whom we depend, and his record of accomplishment is good for the reason that he does know—he knows how to set about the task at hand in order to get results.

Particularly is this true in legislative bodies, where experience counts in getting quick results. One ounce of experience counts more than a whole year of wind-jamming without experience, and in one day accomplishes more than the inexperienced wind-jammer can do in his entire year.

The value of legislative experience in accomplishing results has been demonstrated by Assemblyman Simon H. Van Wagenen. His most recent success was procuring an appropriation for fighting the cedar rust pest in our orchards. Wind-jammers poked fun at the bill because they did not understand it. Then ideas of fruit-culture and farming are like other ideas on many other subjects and in many instances seem to be supplied entirely by the comic sections of the New York Sunday newspapers. To such men, the danger of cedar rust in an orchard is as far away as the North Pole, but it is very vital to the farmers and fruit growers of Ulster county.

At such a time, in such an emergency, the value of legislative experience asserted itself, and through the efforts of Assemblyman Van Wagenen the appropriation which had been the subject of jokes became a reality and the Van Wagenen bill was enacted into law. As a result of the work made possible by his bill, the danger of the cedar rust will be checked.

So many thousand people use the new Rondout Creek Bridge that it seems hardly necessary to remind them that the completion of the bridge was made possible by the Van Wagenen bill, backed by the personal efforts and legislative experience of Assemblyman Van Wagenen.

Each year brings its new problems to be taken before the legislature. Ulster county has such problems, of which the Rondout Creek Bridge and the cedar rust pest are only two examples. Ulster county, under Assemblyman Van Wagenen, has been very fortunate in securing what it needed, but there have been times in the history of the county when we were less fortunate and did not get what we should have had. Does anybody suppose that our problems are at an end?

Assemblyman Van Wagenen's legislative service of four terms is of very practical value to Ulster county. His seniority of service is recognized under the procedure governing all deliberative bodies by his appointment on some of the most important committees of the assembly. Shall Ulster throw away this valuable asset at a time when the county is beginning to develop along new lines and needs men of ability and influence in state councils?

"The man who knows" is the man we need to further Ulster county's interests at Albany during the coming year. Van Wagenen is the man.

Martin Hamilton has shown himself a worthy representative of the town of Denning in the board of supervisors, and his renomination by the Republicans is a tribute to his satisfactory service. Laws passed by the legislature of the state from year to year have increased the duties and responsibilities of supervisors, and towns select men whose ability and integrity have been proved for this important office. The supervisor is the highest executive officer of the town. During the past two years Supervisor Hamilton has demonstrated his fitness in every way to be continued in office for another term. His faithfulness at all times has been a matter of congratulation by the voters of Denning and his reelection will indicate that they believe in rewarding faithful public service.

A brother of Mussolini doing reconstruction work in France, on being asked why he did not return to Italy to accept an important post, replied: "Italy has given herself to Mussolini, but she has not married the whole Mussolini family. My brother is not the man to put his influence to that kind of use." No doubt the position of Mussolini is the stronger for his avoidance of the snares of nepotism.

British housewives are reported as solving their servant problem by employing men as domestics, which they are able to do on account of the vast number of men now out of work. Lady Conan Doyle reports "great success" in the experiment, her "parlorman," "houseman," and "between man" being highly efficient and relieving her of her "worries."

Oklahoma was formerly known as Indian Territory, but the surviving aboriginals are guileless of the present goings-on there.

NO TAMMANIZED ASSEMBLY LIKELY

Why people will elect Republican candidates for member of assembly:
To stop Tammany's practice of padding the state pay rolls.

To prevent Tammany from getting a choke-hold on the entire state government.

To block a four-year term for governor, which would give too much power to one man.

To continue the present budget law and guard the state treasury from Tammany inroads.

To keep rents down; increased taxes mean increased rents, the rent payer being the actual tax payer.

To maintain a department of farms and markets and save agricultural affairs from Tammany dictation.

To protect the farmer from being deprived of his vote by personal registration laws for farming sections.

To make the national guard a soldier unit and not a Tammany marching club under the captaincy of a Tammany leader.

To provide farming communities with proper legislative representation and not permit Tammany to redistrict the state.

To kill proposals which would empower a Tammany transit commission to increase fares to more than five cents in New York city.

To keep the state department of education out of politics and keep the appointment of the commissioner of education out of the hands of a Tammany executive.

To check Tammany extravaganzas, which in four months increased state expenditures $23,000,000 more than they were under a preceding Republican administration.

To increase the number of miles of good roads, the chief means of transportation and communication of the farmer, Tammany never having shown any love for the farm people.

To make it impossible for Tammany to grab billions of dollars in subway contracts by abolishing state regulation of traction matters and public utilities as established by former Governor Charles E. Hughes.

To oppose ill-advised legislation assailing the industrial and commercial interests of the state by trade commission and other bills to hamper business in the Empire state as advocated by a Tammany senate.

To retain efficient Republican heads who conduct their departments $256,000 more economically than their Democratic successors but who were removed, for "extravagance," by a Tammany governor, as was Tax Commissioner Law.

To prove the state of New York is Republican and that the Republican party stands for that which is sincere and sound and will not, because of political expediency, depart from principles that have made New York the Empire state.

To reduce waste and develop the state's water power by private companies under rigid state regulation and supervision, but not under state operation or state ownership, the first step of which would mean an expenditure of $200,000,000, and this just a beginning.

EDWARD MESSINGER PRESIDENT OF '24

At The High School—Prisma Also Elects Officers—Football Men Prepare For St. Stephen's Seconds.

Wednesday afternoon the members of the class of '24 organized and elected officers for their last and most eventful year in Kingston High School. Again an athlete has been given the highest honor of the class, Edward Messinger having been unanimously elected as president of the class. The other officers are: Gertrude Falvey, vice-president; Marie Kimmie, secretary; James Cassidy, treasurer. An executive committee was also elected. The members are: Sarah Davis, Joe Carroll and Ross Vogt.

The Prisma elected the following officers at the beginning of the week: President, Marion Phillips; vice-presidents, Ottilia Riccobono and Gertrude Falvey; secretary, Anna Gasool; treasurer, Ruth Clark.

Wednesday morning after regular chapel the freshmen remained in the auditorium, where two members of the Webster-Hayne Debating Society spoke to them about the ideals and school spirit of K. H. S. Peter Fisher gave the freshmen some very good rules. Jefferson Pennington then spoke of the school spirit which every freshman has or should have. Dr. Michael was present and spoke a short time. He said that this is the first time in his experience that the upper classes have shown much interest in the freshmen and have tried to tell them what school spirit is.

At the last faculty meeting, it was decided that members of the faculty would give a series of one act plays in the latter part of November.

The football team has been working hard all week in preparation for Saturday's game with St. Stephen's seconds at Annandale. On Monday the team went through a hard scrimmage. Tuesday, the work was a little lighter, signal practice, taking out a man and tackling the dummy being in order. On Wednesday the last scrimmage was held. The team has shown some good form this week and is in very good shape. Coach Strop is satisfied with the work of the team thus far. The lineup of the team will be: Bradley and Carroll, ends; Messinger and McLane, tackles; O'Reilly and Simonetti, guards; Cassidy, center; Goldberg, quarterback; Davenport, right half-back; Anderson or Bailey, left half-back; and Tetley, fullback. The extra men are: Barnhardt, Sammonds, E. Davis, Longyear and Hoffman. Saturday's game will give an opportunity to compare Kingston with Poughkeepsie, the latter having defeated St. Stephen's seconds 7 to 0.

Why We Raise Hand in Yawning.
There are a number of odd superstitions with regard to yawning. Most people remember having been corrected at some time or other for not placing a hand over the mouth to cover up a yawn.

This arose from a quaint belief of years ago when people were more superstitious than they are today—that there was a danger of the devil jumping into the open mouth when in the act of yawning.

Among many races it is still believed that he who yawns much is possessed of an evil spirit. When a Hindu yawns, he snaps his thumbs and repeats the name of one of his deities. To neglect this means misfortune.

When a Moslem yawns, he puts the back of his left hand over the open mouth and says "I seek refuge in Allah from Satan."

To yawn in the midst of prayers is considered a bad omen. It is better, according to ancient superstition, to begin the prayer again, from the beginning.

Why & Sign Is Used.
Originally both "L" and "lb." meant the same thing, "one pound," from the Latin word, "libra." The old system of money had what we should call a "silver standard," the standard being one pound's weight of silver, which was cut up into coins. Twenty "shillings" or two hundred and forty pence—went to the pound's weight of equivalent of the modern shillings or pence—want to the pound's weight of silver. As the gold standard came in, these values were altered, but the old term of "libra" for the pound was kept. Then some distinction had to be made in the sign for weight and value, and so in the former case lb. the first and third letters, were taken for the contraction, while in the latter the initial L with a stroke through it was used.

Again the Girl's Papa.
Young man, if you don't believe that kissing is unhealthy, let the girl's papa catch you at it.

Can't Have Both.
"De troublesomeness of life," said Uncle Eben, "is due to de contradiction of folks. We wants peace an' we craves excitement. Dar's no havin' both at once."

A Valuable Hint for your Finer Fabrics

FOR the starching of her Finer Fabrics, every woman knows the trouble of boiling starch, stirring it all the time so it won't become "lumpy". You can avoid all this by using Linit, the remarkable starch discovery.

New Starch Discovery

LINIT is a scientific starch discovery—distinctly different from ordinary starches. After Linit is thoroughly dissolved and is ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance.

Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches, and is much easier to iron with.

Even ordinary cotton goods, napkins, table-cloths, curtains, etc., have a soft, pliable finish like pure linen when starched with Linit.

Linit penetrates the fabric, helps prevent wear, and prolongs the life of the material.

Linit is sold by all grocers—10c

Perfection in starching is guaranteed or your money refunded.

MISS MERRITT
NEW O. E. S. HEAD

Western Star Grand Chapter Upsets Precedent, Supporting Fight in Ouster of Trustee—Black Hand Letter's Influence.

The action of the Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in suspending Mrs. Clara Heisenbuttle from the office of grand matron, was followed on Wednesday by the suspension of four other trustees and the election of Miss Grace Voorn as grand matron.

Ordinarily the steps leading to the election of grand matron of the order begin with election as associate grand conductress, then grand conductress, then associate grand matron and grand matron.

The election of Mrs. Clara Heisenbuttle, past grand matron, as grand trustee of the order, extended to the election of officers, and both Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Marie Fletcher of Garden City, Long Island, who normally would have become respectively the grand matron, and associate grand matron, were defeated, together with Mamie Lemlein, who was a candidate for commissioner of appeals.

The New York Times says that the administration ticket which was avored by Mrs. Mildred Everson, the retiring grand matron, was elected by a vote of 2,900 to 700.

Explaining the fight in the order, The Times says that Grand Matron Everson suspended Mrs. Clara Heisenbuttle last April from her position as grand trustee and a formal trial was to have been held at the convention, which began on Monday. Mrs. Heisenbuttle sought an injunction in the courts. She obtained a temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Everson from suspending her, and Mrs. Everson took an appeal, which is pending.

The administration scored a victory when Mrs. Everson's action was sustained by the delegates. It won again when for the first time the organization passed over the name of a woman who normally might have advanced to the office of grand matron and gave that post to another. It scored a third time when the membership voted to suspend four other grand trustees who were adherents of Mrs. Heisenbuttle. They were Joseph Halter, William Seguire, Lulu I. Hustleby and M. Frances Thornton.

In a prominent place on the platform of the convention hall was a framed "black-hand" letter received by Mrs. Everson. The letter contained a threat on her life, and enclosed in the letter was a big black hand on paper. The letter was read by many women, and is thought to have played an important part in the defeat of the opposition ticket and the support of Mrs. Everson and her policies.

In addition to the contest for the position of grand matron, there were contests for the places of associate grand matron and commissioner of appeals from Brooklyn. Rose E. Scherer of Kings defeated Marie Fletcher of Garden City for associate grand matron, and for commissioner, Artoinette Woodworth defeated Mamie Lemlein.

Other officers elected were: Grand patron, James L. Dowsey, Nassau; grand treasurer, Georgina Soardfield, Manhattan; grand secretary, Annie M. Bond, Brooklyn; grand conductress, Frances Hitchcock Shaw, Mohrre; associate grand conductress, Anna Reed Farrington, Jefferson. Trustees elected were: Three years, Clara S. Ellithorp, Mildred V. Everson; two years, Jess S. Kellogg, Sophie P. Paul; one year, Ida G. Harrington, Mervin S. Near.

The Times says that the management of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, wishing to correct the published impression that women fainted for lack of air in the ball room the previous day, stated that the room is one of the best ventilated meeting places in the city and that there were nineteen ventilating machines in the room. It was said that most of the women who fainted were wearing heavy coats, some of them fur coats, and that at one stage of the proceedings the doors were ordered closed and nobody was allowed in or out.

This is the first time in the history of the grand chapter that the associate grand matron has not been advanced to the highest position. Much of the dissension within the order, it was stated by members, had its origin in connection with the financial accounting of the organization's home in Oriskany, which is conducted by the grand trustees.

FILIPINO TO ADDRESS
M. E. MISSION SOCIETY

The missionary societies of Trinity M. E. Church have arranged an exceptional program for their open meeting Friday afternoon next at 3 o'clock, in the lecture room of the church. P. Blanca, a Filipino, for some time past a student at Columbia University, will speak on the subject, "The Philippines: what the Government of the United States has accomplished; what the missionaries have done." Mr. Blanca speaks English especially well. All ladies of whatever church, who are interested in missionary work, are cordially invited to attend.

Bakers' Association Field Day. The annual field day and clambake of the Bakers' Association will be held on Sunday at Piero's Grove, West Hurley. All members, their wives and friends are invited.

MISSION SERVICES
AT ST. MARY'S

Conducted by the Augustinian Fathers Are Being Largely Attended—Mission Closing at St. Joseph's Church.

Sunday evening last a two weeks' mission opened at St. Mary's Church under the guidance of the Augustinian Fathers, the Rev. George Walker, O. S. A., being in charge, assisted by the Rev. Edward Cotter, O. S. A. This week the mission services are for the women. Masses followed by instructions are celebrated every morning, at 5 o'clock and at 8 o'clock. In the evening at 8 o'clock the mission sermon is delivered followed by Benediction. The Missionary Fathers are eloquent preachers and have a large following among the women this week, each night the church being unable to accommodate the crowds. During the entire week confessions are being heard preparatory to receiving holy communion. On Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the women's mission will close with solemn Benediction.

On Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, the men's mission will open. Masses will be offered at 5 and 8 o'clock each morning, followed by a short instruction and the important sermon given each evening at 8 o'clock. The men's mission will last one week ending Sunday evening, October 21.

From the success so far of the women's mission it is expected that the mission by the Augustinian Fathers will be one of the most successful in the history of St. Mary's Church.

At St. Joseph's Church a mission is being held this week for the men. Last week the mission services were for the women and were largely attended and successful. The men's mission at St. Joseph's will close this Sunday evening.

EXPLORERS HUNT FOR PINK DUCK

Expedition to Make Another Trip to India.

GET VALUABLE SPECIMENS

"The pink-headed duck of Nepal is probably extinct," said Arthur S. Vernay, one of the principals of the Vernay-Fauntleroy Indian expedition. In an interview at the American Museum of Natural History, Seventy-seventh street and Central park West, New York. Although the expedition failed to obtain specimens of this rare bird, it presented the museum with an absolutely unique collection of groups of the great mammals of the Indian plains, and plans another trip to secure specimens of the Schomburgk deer of Burma, a creature that has never been seen by white men.

The Vernay-Fauntleroy expedition recently completed a six months' visit in Outh, Nepal, Mysore and Burmah. The expedition was financed entirely by Mr. Vernay as an individual British tribute to American participation in the World war. The other principal, Lieut. Col. J. C. Fauntleroy, is aide-de-camp to King George and British commissioner to Lucknow. Mr. Vernay is well known in New York as an art connoisseur, big game hunter, and is also engaged in the export business at 12 East Forty-fifth street. The party received invaluable co-operation from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, the Maharajah of Nepal and other native princes, and Sir Harcourt Butler, British governor general of Burma.

Secure Big Collection.

The result of the first hunt is a magnificent collection of groups, male, female and young, of the tiger, leopard, elephant, one-horned Indian rhinoceros, nilghai, swan, ibis (a kind of bird), birds, particularly hornbills and reptiles. There is a total of 450 specimens of all species, including 250 birds, 110 mammals, 20 snakes, as well as other reptiles, scorpions and a number of insects. The expedition left New York on November 1, 1922. It lasted 195 days, and covered 10,300 miles by rail, 570 by motor, 550 on elephant back, 850 on foot, with short distances by bullock-cart, camel and horse. A taxidermist, an ornithologist and a photographer accompanied the party. The latter was Lieut. Commander D. M. Dyer, famous for his war photography in the British navy. His work is represented by a magnificent collection of 1,000 still photographs and 26,000 feet of film. These have been presented to the museum with the specimens. The film will be exhibited for the benefit of the New York board of education. It includes 51 seconds of film of the great one-horned Indian rhinoceros, a tiger charging an elephant and other spectacular scenes.

There was no unnecessary killing, said Mr. Vernay, and no wounded animals were allowed to escape. They killed three elephants, including a fifty-year-old tusker of unusual size, standing nine and a half feet at the shoulder. These were shot in Mysore and 170 coolies were needed to carry the skins and skeleton to the rail head. Lord Reading professed great interest in the tiger group and asked that it be presented to the museum in his own name. The rhinoceros were obtained only through the courtesy of the Maharajah of Nepal, in whose kingdom only, it is found. It is becoming extinct, as its flesh and blood are thought to possess medicinal qualities by the natives, although to kill it implies a 2,000 rupee fine for the first offense and capital punishment for the second. The Maharajah co-operated in violating his own laws, providing elephants and 100 coolies. Three specimens were obtained.

"Ringing Tigers."

The methods by which the party got specimens of tigers is known as "ringing tigers." This sport required 38 elephants, six guns and 533 men. A buffalo was left as bait in the jungle. The tiger killed the beast and gorged on the meat, afterward sleeping until next evening. Natives found the tiger, and a narrowing ring of elephants surrounded the lion and closed in on the beast. When the ring was about 100 yards in diameter a big tusker was sent in to drive out the tiger. The tiger, on emerging, would make a jump and try to climb on an elephant's head. "It is very important," explained Mr. Vernay, "to shoot the tiger before this can happen." Five tigers were caught. The tigers, a kind of wild lion, is, according to Mr. Vernay, exceedingly wary, lives on wild orchids and other tropical vegetation, and lies down watching its own track for signs of a pursuer. It wounded it will climb up, track down and attack its enemy. Mr. Vernay will return for a further four months' hunt in Burma and Siam, in the hope of procuring specimens of the Schomburgk deer and of the giant Siamese tortoise.

Judge Fines Self a Dollar.

Judge John Cunningham of Duquesne, Pa., fined himself $1 for parking his automobile without lights. The car was tagged by a policeman. The court dismissed three other motorists who faced similar charges.

Find 38 Snakes Under Old Tree.

When he sowed down an old tree, near Samson, Ala., Pierce Bowden found 38 rattlesnakes in a hollow in it. There were two big snakes and 36 young ones. Bowden killed all of the reptiles.

Weight of Fish.

Adult ostriches weigh from 150 to 400 pounds, dependent on sex and handling, says Nature Magazine. They are taller than the common Indian pony or the average pole pony, and their long, strong legs are the most interesting features of their physical makeup.

AMERICAN COMEDY FILMS ARE POPULAR IN EUROPE

Old World, Fed Up on Tragedy, Turns to Movies Made in U. S. for Its Laughs.

Munch.—Europeans are getting somewhat muddled in their conceptions of American life.

For years cowboys represented American mankind to Europe. The British comic papers and the British stage gave Europe its pictures of life in the United States. Then the movies came to the fore, and Europe insisted on having films which would not violate its notions on how Americans look and act.

Films of conventional life in the United States apparently do not appeal to European crowds. At any rate, they are never shown.

The ordinary European film is so slow in its action that the movie houses rely very largely on American films for their "pep" and comedy. Europe produces tragedies without end. Italy, Spain, France and Germany stage sorrow and grief. Sweden also supplies many tear wringers and Russia is beginning to send soulful films into the houses of western Europe. So it remains for the Americans to supply something snappy and lively.

Europe has starved and fought and suffered so long that it wants a change. European comedians have tried to make their fellow countrymen laugh, but they have failed so far in their efforts to produce first-class comedy films. Even the third-rate American comedies are more successful in Europe than the films in which the leading comedians of Europe have been featured.

Comic nights are frequently advertised in German film theaters, when only the comic films of certain American favorites are shown. German producers, German actors and many of the German critics denounce American comic films as foolish and inartistic, but the public crowds the theaters when they are shown and pays its hard-earned marks for a chance to laugh.

TO COMMEMORATE 50 YEARS OF HAPPY MARRIED LIFE

This tree, uniquely designed was completed in shape shown between them, by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Carr after ten years' constant work. The couple recently celebrated their golden wedding at Auburn, N. Y., and it was in commemoration of their fifty years of happy wedded life that they did the unique carving.

SHIPS WORTH $22,733,315

U. S. Merchant Fleet Consists of 1,334 Craft.

The United States merchant fleet today is worth $22,733,315 in the opinion of the U. S. Shipping Commission, which has just completed an extensive survey.

Taking world-market conditions, the experts, after considering types, capacity, machinery, loading devices and like factors, placed the nation's first valuation on the 1,334 craft, making up the fleet.

Of the entire fleet 470 ships are in operation or ready for spot delivery, of a value of $137,311,910, while 862 laid-up vessels are valued at $87,000,575, and 36 tugs are valued at $1,515,000.

The recapitulation shows 305 cargo ships ready for delivery on the spot or in operation and 802 laid up. Nineteen tankers are ready or ready, while 25 are laid up. Twelve of the fourteen refrigerator ships are laid up, and all nine of the concrete tankers and cargo vessels are out of commission. Nineteen vessels are classed as "damaged and obsolete."

Of the passenger ships 30 out of the 33 are in operation or ready for spot delivery. Those not laid up are valued at $46,390,000.

The total valuation on July 1 last, was given as $22,732,615, but since then six ships were sold for $900,300, the announcement of the shipping board said.

The Test of Time Proves Reliance Quality

EVERY day some new product springs up to make a claim for public approval, but after all only Time can determine whether the claims are justified.

Reliance Coffee has won public approval after years and years of acquaintanceship. Housewives know it is good because they have served it in the home. Grocers know that it is good because their customers keep coming back for the same old brand.

If you want coffee satisfaction order this time-tested product by name.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT AND YOUR FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY BOTH FURNISH PROTECTION.

Can you name any service more indispensable than a protective service? It is impossible! Protection is one of the first laws of life and of business as well. Consider the two services necessitated by the constant danger of destructive fires—that of the Fire Department and that of your fire insurance company: One serves to stop loss of life, and helps to save property, the other stops the loss of money. This agency represents America's leading insurance institutions. However busy you are acquiring property, take time to insure what you have. Make sure BEFORE the fire—Call today!

HI-Y CLUB OPENS SEASON

Wednesday night the Hi-Y Club met for the first time since school opened. The officers who were elected last year and who officiated at the first meeting are: Ross Vogt, president; Ralph Longyear, vice-president; Ed Messinger, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Perry spoke about the work which the club will do this year. He said that the club will be self-conducting. Also there will be more devotional exercises than in the past, the meeting opened with a scripture reading and prayer. Every effort will be made to secure the best possible speakers for the meetings. Mr. Hall read a few verses of St. Paul's first letter to Timothy. President Vogt then introduced Mr. Van Ingen, a member of the high school faculty.

Mr. Van Ingen told of the beauties of Watkins Glen and of the silent forces which have been moulding and cutting this great glen out of the shale. Mr. Van Ingen compared these silent forces to the environments and companionship in our lives. In Watkins Glen Mr. Van Ingen noticed a V-shaped crevice with a large granite boulder in it. Behind this boulder many other rocks had gathered and had changed the current of the stream. Thus it is in our lives, one thing may change our whole course. There are also many sharp turns and angles in the glen which show that the stream took the line of least resistance. Most of us are the same way, picking out the line of least resistance and getting nowhere. Mr. Van Ingen closed with a quotation from Lowell. The boys enjoyed the talk very much. The meeting then adjourned.

That Body of Yours

AN OLD FRIEND.

The world was startled recently when it was reported that a British scientist had discovered a cure for tuberculosis. A cure that would begin to show effects within thirty minutes.

Perhaps the announcement was premature, but the point claimed for the cure was interesting. That is, that it would destroy the fatty covering of the tubercle germ, and thus allow other remedial agents to neutralize or destroy the germ itself.

And so the thought came to me that a little fat upon your body was a very useful thing up to a certain point.

That is, that fat is a natural protection of the body tissues and is a sign of health.

Now, what is my suggestion? That the old fashioned idea of giving pure cod liver oil in run down and wasting conditions is a very wise one.

When we think of oils we may think perhaps of castor oil, and its use among children as a harmless but effective purgative.

When we think of olive oil we think of it more as a lubricant and heat producing force.

But when we think of cod liver oil we should think of the tremendous food value nature has provided in the livers of cod, and perhaps other fish.

You see most of the foods we eat are half to three-quarters water. When we take cod liver oil, we take into us an exceedingly rich food. Why a tablespoonful has as much food value as almost any article we'd take at meals, that is as much as a good sized piece of meat, or a helping of vegetables.

Cod liver oil is usually very easily handled by the digestive apparatus, and is ready to work in the system in an exceedingly short time.

This means that it supplies the energy so quickly that the body does not get a chance to wear itself out by its ordinary work before the oil is on the spot to delay the process.

Then it contains vitamins which mean much to the growth of the cells of the body. Thus in children who are not gaining in weight, and in adults who are run down, or suffering with any wasting condition, you can see that its two fold job, building up, and delaying destruction, is just what is needed.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, Oct. 10.—Henry Warne of Elmford called on friends here one day last week.

Mrs. Edward Schoonmaker was an out of town visitor on Thursday last.

Mrs. Chauncey Elliott and daughter of Ohloville spent Tuesday with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carroll.

Judson Van Vleet is getting out timber and contemplating building a barn on his newly purchased property.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauman of Hopewell Junction and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flexel and son of New York visited their old home here recently.

Martin Anderson of New York, formerly of this place, was married one day last week. Congratulations are extended to the happy pair.

Mrs. Rolland Leubler and son Carl have returned home from Bridgeport, Conn., where they have been spending a few weeks with relatives.

Allen Rodgers is spending a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in Tannersville, Palenville and Troy.

Did You Promise to Obey?

WOMEN who have the word "obey" struck from their wedding ceremony are sure to obey their husbands on one particular thing—His wish that they do all they can to look their best.

And when your husband complains that your hands are looking red and coarse, you can remedy that matter immediately. For red and coarse hands are usually caused by using a common household soap that irritates the skin.

You can go to your grocer and ask for a bar of Kirkman's Soap and you will get a soap for every household and laundry purpose that is as harmless to your hands as is the most exquisite toilet soap.

KIRKMAN'S Soap is free from lye to redden and coarsen the skin or harm the most delicate fabrics. It is made of the purest and finest materials. It is guaranteed to contain absolutely no adulterants such as starch, talcum powder or water glass.

And while made of strictly pure and harmless materials, Kirkman's still has no superior for washing and cleaning. With its unique cleansing properties, you will find that most of the "elbow grease" is in the suds when you use Kirkman's Soap. For the sake of your hands, insist upon Kirkman's today.

ANTS OF BRAZIL

Disliked by Natives as They Destroy Trees.

Precocious Little Creatures Look Like Multitude of Animated Leaves on the March.

There are ants living in South America that are called parasol ants, because they cut bits of leaves from trees and then march away to their habitations, carrying the leaves over their heads and shoulders. A traveler who has seen these ants work says that he was amazed at seeing ants an inch and a quarter in length and stout in proportion marching in single file through the forest. The habit of these ants in despoiling valuable trees of their foliage makes them a great scourge to the Brazilians.

It is not the largest of these ants that do the work. The workers are always small in size. The larger ones have massive heads, some of which are highly polished, others being opaque and hairy. The big fellows take life easily, apparently admiring themselves in strutting about, but perhaps on the lookout for foes.

Imagine taking a walk through the plantations of Para and suddenly coming upon large mounds of earth of a different color from the surrounding soil. You would notice that some of the mounds were very large, being 40 yards in circumference, but not more than two feet in height. A careful search would reveal the fact that these mounds were the work of parasol ants, being the outwork of domes which overlie and protect the entrance of their large underground homes. The fact that the soil is brought up from a great depth causes the difference in color.

It is not an easy matter to catch eight of the ants at work on these mounds. The entrances are usually closed, and only now and then, when some particular work is going on, are the homes opened. The entrances are small and numerous. In the large hills it would require a great deal of digging to get at the main galleries. The minor entrances join, at the depth of about two feet, on one broad gallery, four or five inches in diameter.

A habit of the parasol ant which causes the natives to dislike it is that it chips and carries off immense quantities of leaves. When the little creatures are busy with this work their procession looks like a multitude of animated leaves on the march. They climb the trees to get these parasols and then use them to thatch their galleries to keep the rain away from the young ants in the nest.

Origin of "Eat Humble Pie."

"—and I had to eat humble pie," concluded the narrator.

"Indeed," commented the man who knows and loves to tell, "and do you know just what that means?"

The one who had just completed the story admitted that he did not and the other proceeded to explain. He would have done so anyway. Thus:

"The 'humbles' or 'umbles' are the heart and liver of a deer. At the time when that animal was served at all the best tables it was customary to serve the 'humbles' in the form of a pie to the servants and retainers at a hunting feast, while the lord and his household dined on the venison pasty. Hence, to 'eat humble pie' came to mean to occupy a subordinate or menial position."

"Thank you," said the victim humbly.—New York Sun and Globe.

Find Gulls Destroy Herring.

When the herring fleets are at sea the herring gulls hover round in clouds and will actually snatch fish from the nets as they are being drawn. Gulls, however, feed mainly on small fry, and one recently opened was found to have no fewer than sixty-four little fish inside it. If there are a million gulls around the coasts of England—a moderate estimate—this means the destruction of 100,000,000 of small fish every day throughout the year. Three times a bill has been passed by the house of lords to remove some measure of protection from the gulls, but each time it has been talked out in the house of commons.

Find Beaches in the Alps.

Some beaches are shallow, some are very deep, and nearly all of them are constantly shifting. All beaches, however, are composed of fragments of the neighboring cliffs, which are continually being broken up by waves, frost, or by inland water.

Since the land is always rising or falling, beaches are often seen well above the present level of the sea. There is such a beach all along the Pizmo mountain, some twenty feet above the sea. Old beaches are found in the Alps at 10,000 feet above sea level, and in the Andes at 15,000 feet.

Surely Not.

A well-known manufacturer was hopefully trying to interest his only son in the business. The young man appeared fairly willing, but did not seem to understand what office hours were for. His father mildly proceeded to take the matter up with him.

"Son, yesterday afternoon you went out at one and came in at five. That's a long time for lunch."

"Why, dad, I wouldn't take all that time for lunch," Junior replied.

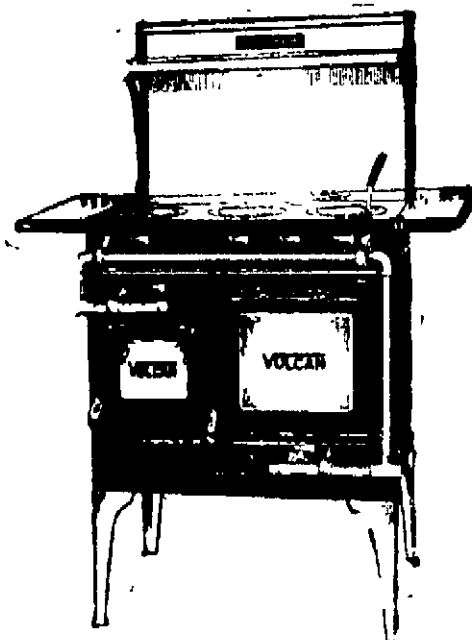

"I hope not," the father asserted.

"No, indeed; I was at the matinee."

Language to Fit.

An ornithologist states that birds have accents according to the part of the country they are found in. The remarks of a Billingsgate parrot, which recently got tangled in a wireless aerial, seem to bear this out.—London Opinion.

sheep gut.

The gut of no fewer than six sheep is used for making the best quality tennis racquets. Good gut depends on the health of the sheep. Color is no test. No rule limit the size of racquets. The wood used is generally second growth white ash. Various substitutes, among them cane, hickory, steel, and aluminum, have been tried, but with comparatively little success.

MAN and the CAST

A man is like the mast of a ship. His family, his neighbors and his investments are the stays which hold him upright. The gale comes and the stays grow taut. If they give way he may snap in two and drift far to leeward.

To prevent such accidents in times of stress one should look well to these stays in the prime of life. He should invest only in those bonds which will hold fast under pressure.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 11.—Irregularly marked the trading at the opening of the stock market today. Changes were fractional except in Sears Roebuck, which rose over one point to 78 1/2. Steel stocks were steady. Bethlehem Steel rose 1/4 to 46 1/2 and Gulf States 1/2 to 74. Baldwin locomotive rose 1/4 to 115 1/2. Chandler lost 1/4 to 45 1/2 and Goodrich Tire 1/4 to 21. Producers and Refiners was weak, yielding 7/8 to 22 1/2 and Corden Oil 1/4 to 23 1/2. Inspiration Copper yielded 1/4 to 23 1/2. Sugar stocks opened fairly steady.

Dull and uninteresting price movements characterized the forenoon trading.

YANKS, 4; GIANTS, 1 IN THE FIFTH

Crowd of 43,000 Rather Apathetic but Three Home Runs, One by Ruth, Bring Them to Life—McQuillan Shelled Off.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 11.—Somewhat more subdued not to say chastened by the outcome of the opening game, the Yankees invaded the musical comedy setting of the Polo Grounds this afternoon for the second meeting with the Giants exactly one game further removed from a world's championship than they were at this time yesterday. Their appearance on the field was greeted with apathetic interest by what might be termed a morbidly curious crowd of some 45,000 most of whom probably make a business of attending public wakes and other lugubrious occasions.

Like professional pall-bearers, they sat around in whispering groups and gave the efforts of the boys in practice the silent treatment. There wasn't a murmur left in the entire assemblage.

In fact, the entire occasion was singularly devoid of the usual world's series glamor. There was no all-night vigil preserved outside the gates nor no frantic rush by hysterical citizens for the choice seats in the unreserved sections when the portals were opened.

The game began with these line-ups:

Yanks.	Giants.
Witt, cf.	Bancroft, ss.
Dugan, 2b.	Groh, 3b.
Ruth, rf.	Frish, 2b.
Meusel, lf.	Young, rf.
Pipp, 1b.	E. Meusel, lf.
Ward, 2b.	Cunningham, cf.
Schlang, c.	Kelly, 1b.
Scott, ss.	Snyder, c.
Penneck, p.	McQuillan, p.

Yanks, first inning—Witt up. Witt out, Frisch to Kelly. Dugan walked. Ruth up. Ruth walked. Dugan going to second base. The crowd booed McQuillan for walking Ruth. Ruth out and Meusel out on a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Giants, first inning—Bancroft out, Scott to Pipp. Groh out, Penneck to Pipp. Frisch out, Ward to Pipp. None across. It was a hard hit ball that Ward scooped on the run and he got a great hand.

Yankees, Second Inning—Pipp out, Groh to Kelly. Ward hit home run into left field stands. Schlang out on foul tip to Snyder. Scott out on a fly to Meusel. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Giants, Second Inning—Young out on a pop fly to Dugan. Meusel hit a home run, into left field stand. It was almost a duplicate of Ward's smash. Cunningham up. Cunningham singled over second. Snyder out on a pop fly to Ward. One run, 2 hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees, Third Inning—Penneck out, Frisch to Kelly. Witt out, Frisch out, Frisch to Kelly. Dugan out on a long fly to Meusel. Nothing across.

Giants, Third Inning—McQuillan out, Dugan to Pipp. Bancroft out on a fly to Meusel who made a nice running catch. Groh walked. Frisch singled over second. Groh stopping at second. Young out on a fly to Ruth. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Yanks, Fourth Inning—Ruth hit a home run over right field stands. Meusel fanned. Pipp single to right. Ward out on a pop fly to Kelly. Pipp holding first. Schlang singled through first, Pipp making third. Flash: Pipp scored on Scott's single over short. Schlang taking second. McQuillan was taken out of the box, and Bentley was sent to replace him. Penneck hit by pitched ball. Witt out on a fly to Cunningham. Two runs, four hits, one error, three left.

Giants, Fourth Inning—Meusel out, Ward to Pipp. Cunningham out on a long fly to Ruth. Kelly fanned. Nothing across.

Ruth hit another homer in the fifth, making score, Yanks 4, Giants, 1.

VASSAR GULLS RECORD COAL TRUCK EARTHQUAKE

Poughkeepsie, Oct. 11.—Severe earthquakes were registered today at Vassar College. So violent were the motions of the delicate seismograph, that the girls and teachers feared nothing less than that the end of the world was impending.

When no news of disaster came, although the instrument continued to grate ominously, an investigation was made. It was discovered that the seismograph indicated a heavy earth tremor every time a coal truck passed the physics laboratory.

"Fat King" Claims Award.

The "Fat King," as Maj. G. V. Ellis of the British army, was known to the troops in France during the war, is a claimant before the royal commission of awards to inventors. The claim is for an invention that the major perfected whereby the food waste at camps and bases was treated in such a way that the fat was separated from the rest of the refuse, sent back to England and used for the manufacture of glycerine.

Patent Given to the People.

For the benefit of the public, the government has patented a water-resisting glue developed by one of its research departments. Any person may obtain the directions for its manufacture by applying to the bureau. It is an improvement on a glue made during the war by adding certain copper salts to the old formula, giving it more strength, resistance to moisture, and better working qualities.—Popular Mechanics.

Influence of All Nations in Dress

Embroideries of Different Countries Characterize Fall Fashions.

The autumn days hold much of interest and charm for the woman of fashion, having in them all the fascination of the undiscovered and the excitement of discovering what is to be worn. With Indian summer hovering, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, the shore and the mountain places lure society later each year, reluctant to leave the out-of-doors for the exactions of life in town. Half the social world sailed this summer to the other side, creating for Paris and London a season more brilliant than any since the pre-war days.

The American element of wealth and fashion abroad in holiday mood, augmented by an army of couturiers, designers and artists, contributed most, it is admitted, to this gaiety; for the French women, even Brown Kasha Cloth Street Dress With Tight Bodice, Choker Collar and Sable-Banded Full Skirt. Cape One of Latest Cut.

The Parisiennes, appear nowadays noticeably subdued in their attire beside the American visitors. Everywhere, at the races, fetes, balls, art exhibitions, in private entertaining, it is we who have set the pace; and some of the costume affairs are described as having outdone in magnificence anything in modern times. The past few months have established a record, and have made for commercial Paris such a harvest as should fill her coffers to the brim.

The intimacy and acquaintance with the inner workings of the European fashion-making world, created by present-day travel, has given American women first-hand knowledge of foreign valuation of our patronage. They find that the first styles, fashions in the past, as it were, are designed to catch the fancy of tourists—a large number of whom take without question whatever bears the Paris label. These makes to gowns, wraps and millinery over here emulate their example.

To this side of the water are coming along, quickly now, models from the ateliers of Worth, Bernard, Lanvin, Jenny and the other prominent establishments. They will answer the requirements for the intermediate weeks, these gowns and medium-weight wraps for the days of chill and mist that mark the coming of winter. An advance style about the acceptance of which there seems to be no slight hesitancy is the coat dress. It is really just the one-piece gown, already found to be so comfortable, and to serve for so many different occasions. But the coat form, as if no other wrap was needed, makes it especially suitable for fall street wear. Made quite simply, in any of the new wools, worn with a fur scarf, or trimmed with fur, its popularity is certain.

Wide Latitude in Styles.

A New York modiste is showing a charming gown in kasha cloth, cinnamon brown, fashioned to flatter, though straight in line; beltless, the waist forming an eton effect. This and each flat blouse, of which there are three on the skirt, being edged with a narrow fringe of monkey fur in natural color. Obviously, there will be a wide latitude in styles, particularly in the all-around wool gown, for plain materials, untrimmed, are equally as good as those of bold plaid and those that are trimmed, some very elaborately. This diversity is evident in frocks for every possible occasion.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE FIRST GAME

John P. Medbury.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Oct. 11.—Judge Landis started off the world's series by sending mental messages to the newspaper men telling them the game could begin any time after he had been photographed.

His snowy white hair made every California fan homesick. They wouldn't gaze in the direction of his box without thinking they were looking at Mount Shasta.

The crowd of sixty thousand people was a marvelous spectacle. One man who didn't know anything about baseball, thought it was a convention of Peggy Joyce's ex-claimants.

Most of the ushers were bright red coats, and were closely guarded by policemen to keep anybody from shooting them, thinking they were British soldiers.

While Walter Hoyt allowed everybody else to hit the ball he was careful not to let his own bat do any damage to it.

Hoyt was very anxious to reach first base but he had to wait until after the game to get there.

Bentley tumbled a ball into the stand, which came so close to hitting Judge Landis that several cameramen took slow motion pictures of his gray hair turning white.

In the fifth inning Ruth stepped up to the bat with a round trip ticket, but he took a step over at third base.

Then Babe tried to steal a run. He had his mind on home but the catcher had his foot on it first.

When he knocked at the door of home plate he was out like a housewife on the first of the month.

The fans in boxes need excitement like this to take their minds off the $6.00.

The real thrill came in the ninth when Stengel walloped the ball so far it looked like somebody would have to chase after it on an elevated train.

It hit the sign board in left field and knocked three hours out of a shaving brush advertisement.

It was a gorgeous top and he took his own time tagging the bases. He looked like a night watchman making the rounds.

Stengel was a hero, but he didn't use his head. He had so much leisure that he could have scored two runs by going around the bases twice.

The next time when Stengel comes up to bat, the outfielders will be waiting for him in taxicabs.

The catcher could fool him by lying a string to the ball and pulling it back as soon as he hit it.

Stengel's home run was a surprise.

to everybody. He couldn't believe it himself until he read about it in the newspapers.

He'll be as good as Babe Ruth as soon as he gets arrested a couple of times for speeding.

He says he's going to hit home runs every day after this, now that he got the idea of the thing.

People who bet on the Yankees yesterday afternoon, left the stadium with longer faces than giraffes.

Their hearts are with Huggins but they're going to place their wagers on McGraw to get their money back.

The second game of the world's series will be played today at the Polo Grounds. McGraw says the Giants are going to win and Huggins claims it'll be the Yankees, but the chances are it's going to rain and make Hars out of both of them.

ANNIVERSARY AT WONDERLY STORE

The Wonderly Company is celebrating its fourth anniversary this week by special sales in all departments at its store on Wall street.

Although the Wonderly Company is only four years old, the business is one of the longest established of any business in the city. The Wonderly Company succeeded G. A. Hart & Company, which was in existence for many years, succeeding to the business of Benson & Hart.

The Wonderly Company has added many improvements to its store which is one of the most complete and fully equipped of any of its kind between New York and Albany.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

An entirely new bill will be introduced at the Opera House today, commencing this afternoon, on the great vaudeville program now being shown at this house. The first three days this week furnished the highest class of amusement in this line for the patrons, who were greatly pleased with the remarkably fine bill. Today will feature another equally as good and will include five acts as follows: Jim and Jesse Burns, experts on the slack wire; King and Myers, some songs worth while and a bit of nonsense in between; the Boyd Trio, juvenile entertainers; Leighton and Duball, a sensation in dance numbers and a whirl of song and dance revue. The picture will feature Miriam Cooper, Forest Stanley and Mitchell Lewis in "Her Accidental Husband."

"Penrod and Sam," a picturization of Booth Tarkington's famous story of boy life, is to be the feature at Keene's Friday and Saturday and is enacted by a cast which includes Benny Alexander, Joe Butterworth, Buddy Messinger, Newton Hall, Gertrude Messinger, Joe McCray, Gene Jackson, Rockliffe Phillips, Gladys Brockwell, Mary Phillips, Gareth Hughes and William V. Mong. "The Midnight Alarm" will be shown for the last times tonight at Keene's.

The Orpheum Theatre offers for Thursday, Friday and Saturday an extraordinary bill of vaudeville, consisting of six acts. The first run Paramount picture is "The Woman With Four Faces," with Betty Compson and Richard Dix. It is an exciting story of the setting of a thief to catch a thief by Bayard Veiller, author of "The Thirteenth Chair." Included in the strong supporting cast are George Fawcett, Theodore Von Eltz, Joseph Kington, James Farley and Guy Oliver. You cannot afford to miss this delightful melodrama.

WILLS DOES HIS STUFF AGAINST SMITH TONIGHT.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Oct. 11.—Whether Harry Wills, the black heavyweight, is the logical challenger for Jack Dempsey's title, will be demonstrated tonight at Queensboro Stadium when he meets Homer Smith, the Kalamazoo heavy, in a ten round bout.

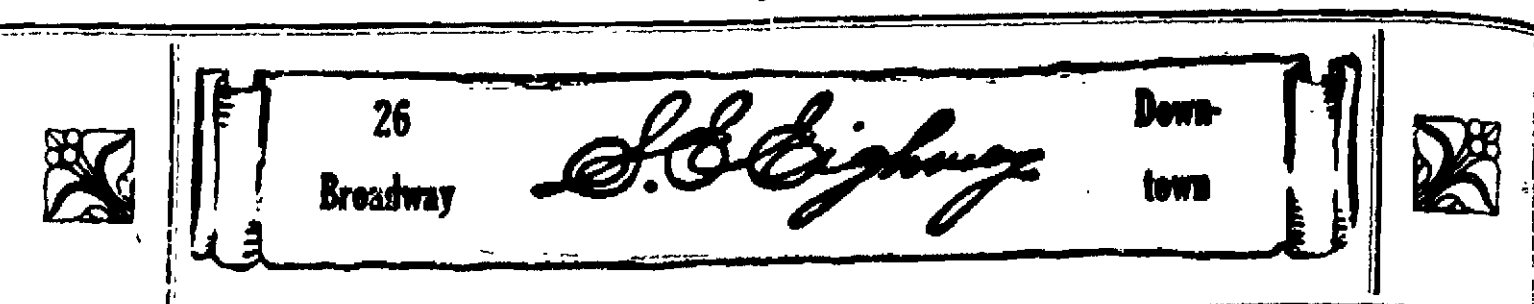

Smith stayed ten rounds with Luis Firpo in the west before the Argentinian met Dempsey. A great crowd will be on hand tonight to see Wills in action.

STUDEBAKERS PLAY REGULARS AT FAIR GROUNDS SUNDAY

The Studebaker baseball team of East Kingston will travel to the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon to meet the Kingston Regulars in the third and deciding game of the series, for the amateur championship of the Hudson Valley. Manager Brown of the Regulars has signed up some new men for the big game and is confident that his men will beat the Studebakers. Tommy Davitt who used to sport the spangles of the Studebaker club will cover short stop for the Regulars Sunday. Manager McNally of the Studebakers has been very busy the last few days getting new players. Eddie Barton from Tannersville and Leonard from Wilbur are some of the new men that will appear in the lineup of the Studebaker Club Sunday. The managers of both teams will put their lineups in Friday evening's issue of The Freeman, which will give the public an idea of the strength of both teams. The game Sunday will start at 3 o'clock. The admission to this game will be small and it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand.

SEATS ALL SOLD FOR ARMY-NOTRE DAME GAME.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Oct. 11.—The West Point Notre-Dame football game scheduled for Ebbetts field, Brooklyn, on Saturday, will get away to a late start in all likelihood, it was announced today.

The original starting hour was two o'clock, but present plans call for the contest to begin at 3:30 p. m., owing to the fact that the cadet corps will not be able to leave West Point until noon on the day of the game. Special trains will carry the cadets to the scene of the game.

Interest in the game is so great here that the seating capacity of the field has been sold out and an extra stand, accommodating 2,500 persons, is being erected.

STORMS WORK HAVOC ALONG DANISH COAST.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Copenhagen, Oct. 11.—Heavy damage was reported today from storms which have been raging along the coast. A number of ships have been wrecked, including the steamer Bretagne. On the Jutland coast, dams gave way, allowing floods to sweep over unharvested crops, ruining them.

Buildings at the Gothenburg exposition were damaged.
